The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REMEMBERING PRESIDENT
ABRAHAM LINCOLN

(Mr. MCCARTHY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, at 7:22 this morning, 150 years ago, we lost one of the greatest leaders of our Nation: President Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln understood American exceptionalism. We know this for many reasons, but one great reason was his words at Gettysburg. He told the crowd that our Fathers had brought forth on this continent a new nation, one conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. It was his vision that this Nation would have a new birth of freedom; and, for that beautiful vision, many have fought and died.

President Lincoln understood the cost of freedom. He was a Member of this, the people's House, for one term before he rose to become—what I believe—one of our greatest statesmen.

He struggled and never gave up to pass the 13th Amendment, so that no one here would ever again have to endure the sin of slavery. He died for the dream that life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness would finally become more than just words, that it would be a promise kept to all.

As we remember Lincoln as one of the greatest American leaders and the truest embodiment of American principles, our country still feels the mark of his great presence today. I thought it was important that we memorialize it here.

MOMENT OF SILENCE IN MEMORY OF THE BOSTON MARATHON VICTIMS

(Mr. CAPUANO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CAPUANO. Mr. Speaker, 2 years ago today, one of the most cowardly acts in American history was perpetrated on the people of Boston, of Massachusetts, of America, and, in fact, of the world when two lowly cowards blew up two bombs in the middle of the Boston Marathon, which is a celebration of American patriotism and of the birth of this country, killing three innocent people and, later on in the day, shooting a police officer in, again, another cowardly act, and injuring over 275 people.
